Performance Note Report

Author: Marc Babitz

Agency: Department of Health

Funding For:

Serving a New or Larger Population

Public Benefit:

Purpose: The Purposes and duties of this program are to support the health and development of new mothers and their children.

Services: The services provided by the funding are to provide home visiting services to mothers who are considered to be at-risk.

Expected Outcome: The expected outcome of the program is yet to be determined. It is anticipated that the outcomes will be determined during the pilot period.

Implementations and Resources: The bill will be implemented by the following organizations: Department (Utah Department of Health, Office of Home Visiting); Programmatic intermediary entity (private, not-for-profit organization that enters into a pay-for-success contract with the department yet to be determined to operate the program); Fiscal intermediary entity (an organization that coordinates the funding and management of a pay-for-success contract); Investor (private person(s) that provides up-front cash payment to fund the program and receives a success payment if the performance outcome measures are satisfied); Independent evaluator (person/organization that is contracted to conduct an annual evaluation of the performance outcome measures specified in the pay-for-success contract).

How: The proposed activities are intended to improve early childhood development which will lead to stronger communities and improved life outcomes for Utah's residents.
